My thoughts for the week

Last Sunday some of us went to the final service at Axbridge Methodist Chapel after 122 years of serving the community. It was naturally met with mixed emotions but a saying kept coming to my mind “when a door closes another one opens “ we do not know what the plan will be for this beautiful building but I am sure it is in Gods hands. We can all find examples of this in our lives. Any young person who didn’t get the grades they wanted in the recent exams should listen to this saying and hopefully get over any disappointment looking at other pathways for their future careers.

The Lord gave us all freewill but we need to pray that we are guided to take the pathway he has planned for us: if we wander from the pathway he will guide us back if we just trust and obey as it quotes in the hymn. Trust and Obey for There is no Other Way to be Happy in Jesus, but to Trust and Obey—my prayer is we can all do that.

God bless you all MARY KRAWCZENKO (S)(WL)

OPEN GARDEN EVENT

On our visit to the Tea Party at Edwards farm a good time was had by all who came and a collection of £164.25 was raised for church funds. A letter of thanks has been sent to Edward for his part in making it a memorable event

FOOD BANK Two weeks ago we visited the Food Bank with another donation of food etc which weighed in at 24.70kg and which you have so generously given. This time we didn’t see Lucy as she was out in the van collecting items that are still in date but are surplus to requirements at one of the few supermarkets she regularly visits so this time we met a lovely lady named Sally and she was so very grateful of the gifts we bring. We asked her how things were going with regards items brought to them. Sadly she said ‘more is going out than coming in’ We only needed to look at the shelves in the warehouse to see that it was about a quarter full. Bless you all for all that you give to this most worthy cause.
