Thought for the week

My thoughts for this week are on the second coming of Jesus, a subject rarely heard in sermons these days yet central to the hope of every believer. As I've reflected on Scripture, I've been reminded how consistently the New Testament urges us to live with our eyes lifted toward Christ's promised return. Jesus Himself spoke plainly about it, saying that the Son of Man will appear "with power and great glory" (Matthew 24:30, NIV). That moment will not be hidden or symbolic-it will be unmistakable.

Paul encouraged the early church to stay awake spiritually, reminding them that "the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night" (1 Thessalonians 5:2, NIV). This isn't meant to alarm us but to shape our priorities, our holiness, and our sense of mission. Peter adds that God's timing is purposeful, for He is "not slow in keeping his promise" but patient, giving people time to turn to Him (2 Peter 3:9, NIV).

Thinking on these truths has stirred both comfort and conviction. The second coming isn't just a doctrine to affirm-it's a hope to live by, a reminder that history is moving toward the day when Christ will set all things right.

Prayer Lord Jesus, Thank You for the promise of Your return, a hope that anchors our hearts in uncertain times. Help us to live watchfully, faithfully, and with a deep longing for Your kingdom. Teach us to walk in holiness, to love others well, and to use each day for Your glory. Strengthen our faith as we wait, and fill us with the peace that comes from knowing You will make all things new. Amen.

Thought for the Week

Paul says.....

I HAVE LEARNED TO BE SATISFIED WITH THE THINGS I HAVE..... I KNOW HOW TO LIVE WHEN I AM POOR, AND HOW TO LIVE WHEN I HAVE PLENTY, I HAVE LEARNED THE SECRET OF BEING HAPPY AT ANY TIME

Philippians 4; 11-12 [NCV]
