FOOD BANK Food Bank delivery on Monday 15th saw John and myself make our visit to the warehouse with all our wonderful gifts totalling 20.8kg that you have so kindly left in the church porch. We were greeted very excitedly by a small group of ladies all just collecting their coats and bags (it was just before eleven o'clock) and usually they are all rushing around filling up boxes etc but not today "Where are you all off to, somewhere nice says I?" "Oh no" came the chorus "no food to sort so we're being sent home" "Well our church has donated a lot for you to sort" I say. "Don't tell them that" shouts Lucy "I'm keeping yours for the Wednesday volunteers to sort" "Is it really that serious?" I ask. "I'm afraid to say it is" says Lucy "and no one has cash at the moment either: it really is getting serious because families are really struggling at the moment and with the summer holidays coming up I don't know what's going to happen". Well Lucy I promise we will go back to our givers and will put a plea in our church notices and see if we can get more people to donate something for you" Just imagine if everybody just gave one thing every Sunday for a month - how amazing would that be! also if any of our outside readers of our notices feel they would be willing to donate something for the Food Bank our church is always open on the fourth Saturday morning from ten till twelve and our box for the donations is literally just inside our front door so you could pop something in the box with nobody watching you Every gift is so greatly valued and appreciated

My thoughts for this Week

The longest day has passed this week, so has Father's Day, but what does this mean to us? Personally I wonder where half a year has gone, it doesn't seem long since we were talking about Lent and Easter and changing the clocks to British summertime. Many of us don't want to even think about dark evenings and cold weather.

There is another point to this if we didn't have the change in light levels we would struggle to grow food and if we had no rain we would be like countries in Africa who maybe have no rain for years and suffer from famines. We all need the right levels of water, warmth and light to thrive; this is only given by God who created everything. Everything that flourishes in our world from plants, animals and even human beings are given to us by the grace of God who is in charge of it all. I do struggle with why some parts of the world have more than their share of extreme weather but I come back to the age old belief that it is all in Gods plan. The phrase that comes back is "all I have needed thy hand has provided " from the well known hymn that we often have in our services. Let's just be content where we are and what we have, at all times. Trust in God.

A simple prayer to start the week

"Lord, thank you for this new week. Guide my steps, fill me with your peace, and help me to reflect your love in all I do. Amen."

Thought For The Week

Don't worry about anything: instead pray about everything. Tell God what you need and thank him for all that he has done
